Selph leading drive for local teen center

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Mayor Ron Selph is spearheading a drive to establish a youth center in Granite City.

The fact that Granite City youth have few places to go for organized recreation became an issue in the April mayoral race, in which Selph defeated nine other candidates.

The issue resurfaced again recently when the city — for reasons of safety and liability — decided to tighten enforcement on violations of an ordinance prohibiting basketball goals on city easements.

"Basically, there are organized programs for the younger kids — up until they are about 12 years old," the mayor said.

"But after that, unless they are an exceptional athlete and participate on the high school (sports) teams, we lose them when they get to be about 14 until they are 20," Selph said.

"They really don't have any organized activities and those are the ones we're targeting."

Other communities have done this and they have seen a lot of success.

A resolution establishing a "Mayor's Youth Center Fund" was to have been considered by the City Council Tuesday night.

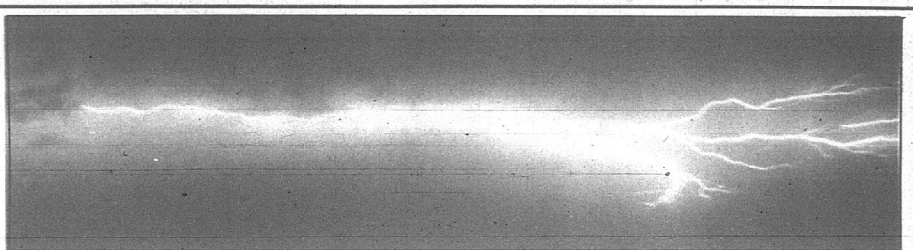

The restricted fund would be comprised of private donations and managed by an unpaid board of five to 15 trustees, selected by the mayor.

The purpose would be to establish the facility and programs "that will extend to the teenagers of this community greater opportunities to locally experience the educational and social advantages and benefits of this modern nation and world, and to mature into responsible adults of this area," the resolution states.

"Other than the family, the greatest opportunity to influence the development of a youth rests with the community," the resolution states.

High water closes locks here again

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

A new surge of floodwater last week closed Mississippi River Locks 27 in Granite City, once again bringing barge traffic to a halt.

Although the locks remained closed Monday, the Tri-City Regional Port District was able to continue operation.

"We have enough barges already (in port) loading and unloading that the closing hasn't really affected us," said Bob Wydra, port district general manager. "If it were to remain closed for a number of days, however, we would start feeling the effects."

The lock was closed Thursday night after the river level jumped four feet, and barges and towboats were forced to tie up along the river banks.

A traffic jam of barges was reported to stretch from Grafton to Clarksville, Mo. On Monday afternoon, the Mississippi River was at 38.34 feet — nearly 8½ feet above flood stage — and rising.

"The National Weather Service says it's not going much higher, but who knows what to believe," said Shang Greathouse, president of the Metro East Sanitary District. "All we can do is keep an eye on it and hope for the best."

Wydra said everyone along the river had been hoping they wouldn't have to worry about flooding again until next spring.

"But at various times I've heard it will be a wet or average or dry winter," he said. "It's like listening to a Ouija board. Hopefully, we'll have an average winter if not less."

Greathouse said, "A Ouija board or crystal ball is probably as good as anything else at this point. I was looking at the old long-range projections today (Monday) and (See LOCKS, Page 2A)

Wanted: Newsboys volunteers

Wanted: Volunteers to raise money for local children's charities. No experience necessary.

Must be willing to get up at the crack of dawn on Nov. 18, don a bright orange apron, brave inclement weather and stand on the street corner selling newspapers. Must be compassionate, caring and willing to go the extra mile to help needy children.

Those who have what it takes to be an Old Newsboys Day volunteer may sign up to man a street corner. Veteran Old Newsboys, some who have volunteered since 1967, already have claimed the corners.

However, there are still many prime corners for new volunteers. The recent floods have created a high demand for

Rains wreaking havoc at juvenile center home

By Shay Wessol
Staff writer

Heavy rains in the past two weeks are causing havoc at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home, the county's maintenance supervisor said Monday.

Marty Sigloch told the county's Building Committee that Haller House, the county's facility for juvenile criminal offenders, was "taking in so much water that they needed life jackets."

Members of the County Board agreed in July to spend $1.1 million from the county's reserves to rehabilitate the detention home, but construction will not begin until next year, Sigloch said.

Architects from AAI/Campbell Inc. are finishing design plans to add a new roof, a sprinkler system, more bathrooms and six new cells and to replace the heating and cooling system.

The final plans will not be available for inspection until mid-October, with a target date of Nov. 1 for bidding to be opened, Sigloch said.

Until that time, county workers must keep a close eye on the building, patching the roof with every new leak, Sigloch said.

"We're doing everything we can to keep the building together," Sigloch said. "I feel for them. It's really leaking badly."

County board member Jack Frandsen of Alhambra, a member of the Buildings Committee, said the situation at the detention home this weekend was critical.

Rejected flood costs will hurt city

SPRINGFIELD — A policy shift on federal flood aid should pour millions more dollars into stricken Illinois communities.

But Granite City officials are bristling about the costs that they say are associated with the flood but which a federal agency says do not qualify for reimbursement.

President Bill Clinton last week announced a change in the federal flood-aid formula that will guarantee local governments in nine Midwestern states 90 percent reimbursement from the Federal Emergency Management Agency for flood-fighting costs and infrastructure repairs.

Initially the state was projected to qualify for just 75 percent reimbursement.

Granite City Comptroller K.P. MacTaggart said final figures on street, sewer and other infrastructure damage have not yet been submitted to FEMA because surveys are ongoing and more damage to sewer lines is expected to be discovered as the groundwater table changes.

But MacTaggart and Joe Juneau, the city's contractual engineer, said Monday that FEMA has for now rejected costs associated with long-term repairs to flood-damaged sanitary sewer lines, such as lining the pipes by the Insituform process, and has opted instead to reimburse the city only for point repairs to damaged sewers.

"Cahokia and some other cities applied for reimbursement for Insituforming their sewer lines and they were denied as well," Juneau said.

"It is something the cities need to continue to pursue. It (See COSTS, Page 12A)

Many see hope in health proposal

By Martin Richter

President Bill Clinton's remedy for what ails the country's health system has its problems, but letting special interest groups take a scalpel to it would be a mistake, says a member of a health coalition that covers Madison County.

"This is one of the biggest political battles in the last 25 years since Medicare," said Jeff Fowler, a member of the Campaign for Better Health Care, a coalition of groups representing labor, senior citizens and others.

The pressure on Congress to change, dilute, delete and add to Clinton's reform package is expected to be tremendous. Still, there has been a sense of optimism since the president spelled out his plan to the nation Wednesday night.

"I am very hopeful," Dr. Raymond Weber of Edwardsville said. "I have a very favorable overall picture of Clinton's project at this time. I am concerned, though, with the details as it works its way through Congress."

Too many concessions to special interests could doom the plan's effectiveness, he said.

One of the selling points for Weber, the president of the Illinois Academy of Family Physicians, is the promised cutback in "The society cannot simply say we support or oppose the President's plan. It appears the plan offers both tremendous opportunity for needed reform and potential danger to our nation's ability to provide quality health care to patients."

paperwork, which will allow doctors to spend more time with patients.

Ted Ellerman, president and chief executive officer of St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, called Clinton's plan a "good starting point" and said he is sure Congress will be able work together and develop a good plan.

While Ellerman said his reaction to the proposal was basically positive, he said he was concerned that cuts in Medicare and Medicaid would be used for reduction of the federal deficit rather than for improving health care.

"We definitely need health care reform," Ellerman said, but he added that Clinton's proposed new system is "extremely complicated" and said he worries that the cost of the new bureaucracy needed to administer the plan may take away from any projected financial benefits.

The Madison State Medical Society said Clinton was off to a good start but called his plan "immensely complicated."

Man gets 30 years for killing tavern owner in E. St. Louis

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

An East St. Louis man was sentenced Monday to 30 years in prison for the shooting death of a Granite City tavern owner last year.

Gary J. Rice was set to go to trial on first-degree murder and armed robbery charges Tuesday, but pleaded guilty to the murder charge instead.

The armed robbery charge was dismissed in exchange for the plea.

Rice, 26, of the 200 block of Winstanley Avenue, shot Kevin

Austin twice in the left arm Sept. 15, 1992, while Austin was driving through East St. Louis, authorities said. One of the bullets pierced Austin's heart.

The shooting occurred on Austin's 38th birthday. He was the owner of The Xtra Inning Tavern in Granite City.

Rice, in a statement to police, admitted that he had a gun, but said the .35-caliber weapon went off during a struggle with Austin.

Assistant St. Clair County State's Attorney Len Cleary said Rice saw Austin's car at Ninth and Lake streets, drove around the block and stopped.

Rice approached Austin's vehicle, demanded money from him, and shot Austin when the victim refused, Cleary said.

Rice was sentenced to two years in prison in 1985 after pleading guilty to an aggravated-battery charge in which he shot a man in the back. Two other charges of attempted murder and armed violence in the same case were dropped in exchange for the plea.

Rice also was charged with armed robbery in 1990 for allegedly taking money from a man by threatening to use a knife. The charge was reduced to robbery in July 1990 in exchange for his plea. He was sentenced to four years in prison in that case.

Stevens said.

"They discovered it missing while checking the receipts. Both office workers checked the receipts against the cash and both came up with the same amount," Stevens said.

He said receipts are checked about once a month. Normally, only city employees have access to the cash box. But the vault is usually kept open during business hours.

"To the best of my recollection, this is the first time something like this has happened during my tenure," said Stevens, who has served since 1970.

We reported the incident to police, as required. I hope the matter will be thoroughly investigated and the culprit apprehended, if possible," he said.

Four area residents were named in felony warrants Sept. 24 by Madison County State's Attorney William Haine.

Edwin J. Holbrook, 17, of the eighth block of Briarview in Granite City, was charged with aggravated battery. Granite City police allege that Holbrook bent the fingers and twisted the arm of a woman over the age of 60 on Sept. 19. Bond was set at $40,000.

Kenneth D. Harris, 35, of Adams Street in Granite City was charged with aggravated battery. Granite City police allege that Harris struck a man in the face on Sept. 2. Bond was set at $25,000.

Thomas J. Dickey, 27, of the 2200 block of Missouri Avenue in Granite City, was charged with residential burglary. Granite City police allege that Dickey entered a Granite City residence with the intent to commit a theft. Bond was set at $75,000.

Terry Sherrod, 30, of the 1600 block of Fifth Street in Madison, was charged with robbery. Madison police allege that Sherrod took a purse containing $200 and $110 in food stamps on Sept. 19. Bond was set at $50,000.

Police are investigating the disappearance of $285, discovered missing from a City Hall vault last week.

City Clerk Bob Stevens told police Wednesday that his office workers discovered the cash to be missing from a petty cash box kept in a walk-in vault in his office.

The theft could have occurred anytime during the past month, Stevens said.

the Mississippi was supposed to be at 20 feet by the end of September.

"I'm sure the National Weather Service and everybody does the best they can, but the truth is that nobody really knows anything for sure."

Record flooding on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers closed the Tri-City Port for more than a month this summer.

Wydra said the flood cleanup process has continued despite the new round of flooding—although the torrential rains last week did cause the cleanup to halt for a day.

Greathouse said those rains, which at one point dropped more than four inches of rain in less than an hour, led to flash flooding in several areas of St. Clair County last week.

"The water just comes roaring down the ditches and you don't have time to do anything with it," Greathouse said. "That kind of thing just worries the hell out of you."

"None of us were really ready for this new round of flooding," Wydra said. "But as bad as it is for business, at least it is not our homes."

"Our hearts really go out to all the people who were about to go in and clean up after their personal disasters and who now face even more."

Greathouse also said he felt sorry for the people fighting to clean up after the summer's floods.

He said the new flooding has "gummed up the works" as the MESD tries to recover from the summer flood, and said he knows it is even worse for people whose homes and businesses were flooded.

"We had the people from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Vicksburg, Miss., up here last week looking to see if we needed to plant new grass on the levee berm or if it would grow back," Greathouse said.

"The areas they were inspecting are back under 10 feet of water now. It seems like you just can't win."

Walks for Women set for Sunday

In an event designed to bring a greater awareness of breast cancer, the AMC Cancer Research Center, the Suburban Journals Hardware's Restaurants, KSDK-TV (Channel 5) and radio station KYKY-FM (98.1) are sponsoring "St. Louis Walks for Women" at four parks on Oct. 3.

Participants who register for the walk will recruit "sponsors" who will make donations to the AMC Cancer Research Center based on the number of miles walked.

There will be a one-mile and five-mile route in each of four local parks: Shaw Park in Clayton; Sylvan Springs Park in south St. Louis County; Longacre Park in Fairview Heights, Ill.; and Blanchette Park in St. Charles.

Registration and pre-walk activities begin at 10:30 a.m., and there will be a celebrity kickoff and warm-up session at noon by Steps Unlimited.

The walk begins at 12:30 p.m. Prizes for walkers who collect the most pledges include four roundtrip tickets to any Hards' west Airlines destination, a deluxe weekend for two at the Adam's Mark Hotel, passes to AMC Theaters and four 1994 Six Flags Over Mid-America season passes.

To register or for more information about the walk, call 569-0500. Walkers who have not yet registered may pick up registration forms at any Hards' Restaurant. The forms and donations should be brought to the walk location of their choice the day of the event.

BAC may adopt 'pay-as-you-go' system for vets

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Belleville Area College officials said Thursday they are considering a "pay-as-you-go" system for students who depend on the Illinois Veteran's Grant (IVG) program to pay their tuition.

Under that plan, veterans who attend the college would pay tuition directly to the college and apply for reimbursements from the state. The board will vote on the proposal at its Oct. 20 meeting.

Board member Mark Levy said some kind of change in the program's funding is necessary to keep the college from losing more money.

BAC already has lost nearly $500,000 because the state does not reimburse the college at 100 percent, he said. That figure could go as high as $750,000 by the end of the current school year.

"We cannot have a magnet program here for the state that creates a half million dollar deficit for taxpayers in the district," Levy said. "We cannot continue to absorb that same loss program."

BAC President Joseph Cipri said the board was doing all it could to get better funding, but veterans need to call and write their legislators to keep the program intact and fully funded.

The college sent letters to 55 different veteran's organizations asking them to get active in the appeal to the state, but Cipri said the college got no responses.

"Illinois veterans have got to get active," he said. "You have to communicate to them. The potential is here and the ball's in your court."

The state allots $12 million for the program for all colleges statewide although there was as much as $18 million in claims against the fund, Cipri said. BAC had nearly $1.8 million in claims last year, but was repaid about $1.4 million.

The college instituted a $20 per credit hour lab fee in the summer for students in the aviation program which was intended to make up the difference. However, the state reimbursement worsened because more veterans were seeking assistance, Levy said.

At BAC, 83 percent of the IVG funds go to students in the aviation program.

"The problem has become greater. The money available is still the same, but the demand is much higher," Levy said. "That's more money this year than it'll be paid by the state. If the problem had not worsened, we would have been OK."

If the funding problem cannot be resolved in the long term, BAC may have to stop accepting students with IVG funding, Cipri said. But the board will not consider that option unless all else fails.

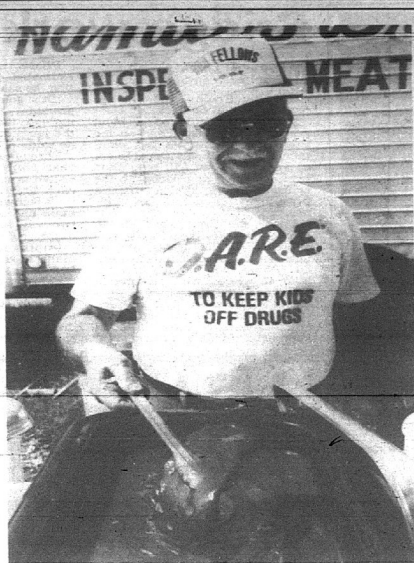

"We cannot continue to absorb red ink. It's your futures and your opportunities are on the line," he said.

'Summer stages' to be discussed

"The Birth and Future of 'Summer Stages'" will be the topic of the Focus Series session at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at 9:50 a.m. today.

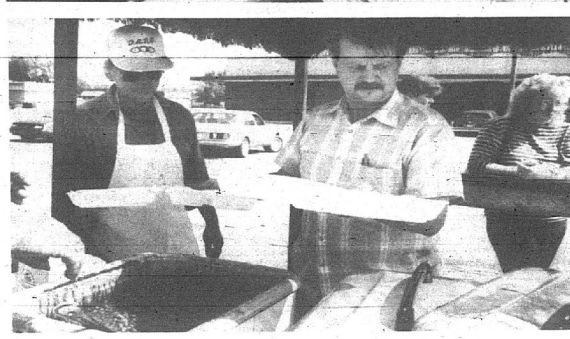

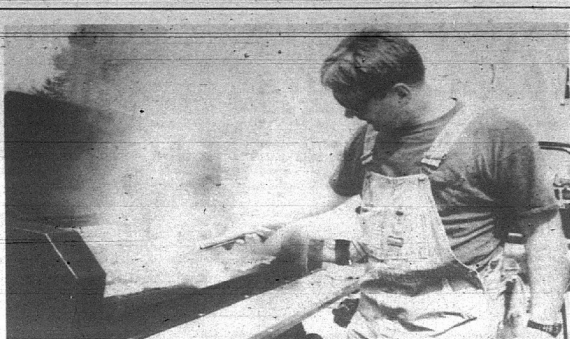

Patricia Goche, associate professor of speech communication at the university, will present the program.

The Focus Series was developed for people 55 years and older.

BAC board member submits resignation

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Citing unpredictable scheduling at his job, Belleville Area College board member Thomas Pratt of Dupu submitted his resignation last week.

The letter, dated Sept. 16, said his "hours became completely unpredictable with no apparent change in the near future."

He said he could no longer represent the citizens of the district under the circumstances, but that his term had been a "learning, rewarding experience."

Pratt, who has been on the board for two years, was elected to a four-year term in 1991. He could not be reached Friday for comment on the resignation.

Board president Robert Maxwell said he can no longer serve.

well of Granite City said the board will have 60 days from the time it accepts Pratt's resignation to appoint a replacement for the remaining two years. That person will have to come from the same sub-district as Pratt.

"He was a very good board member when he attended," Maxwell said. "It's unfortunate I guess that he can no longer serve."

Bridge work to start again

By Peggy O'Farrell
Staff writer

Starting Friday, the "bridge from hell" will be back.

Commuters enjoyed a brief respite from construction on the Poplar Street Bridge this summer, but the Illinois Department of Transportation will soon start work to widen approaches to the bridge, said Vic Modeer, IDOT's program implementation engineer.

Under the first phase of the project, the westbound main line approach to the bridge will be torn down and then reconstructed. Phase one is expected to take 47 weeks, with completion scheduled for August 1994.

"And after we do that, we turn right around and we tear down and reconstruct the eastbound approach," Modeer said.

Phase two will also take an estimated 47 weeks for completion, he said.

"It's going to be earthquake-resistant and we're going to increase the surface by widening the lanes and adding shoulders," he said.

Throughout the almost two-year project, traffic will be re-routed to maintain three lanes in each direction, Modeer said.

"When we tear the west-bound main line down, we'll be putting two-way traffic on the former east-bound main line," he said.

Improvements have been made to the bridge for the last four years, Modeer said.

"This is the last phase of it," he said.

"We've decided to keep three lanes open the entire time instead of doing everything in one fell swoop and having lanes change and routing traffic back and forth. So it's back. But the good news is, the traffic controls will be constant. People won't have to wonder what lane is going to be closed today. There's still going to be a lot of rooms to merge once you're out of the three-lane construction zone."

IDOT anticipates 30-minute delays "for the first week or so, and after drivers make the adjustment, we anticipate no major problems."

The improvements will increase visibility along the bridge approach, making for a safer commute, Modeer said, and the new shoulders will make room for emergency stops, thus easing traffic congestion.

The Poplar Street Bridge has been over-used and the improvements are necessary, Modeer said.

Federal work force cuts may take a while

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

Fully 12 percent of federal workers — 252,000 in all — would lose their jobs under President Bill Clinton's recently unveiled plan to "reinvent government." Recent experience, however, suggests those cuts may be slow in coming, just two of the government's 54 regulatory agencies will meet Clinton's pledge to trim payrolls 25 percent in the 1994 fiscal year, says Melinda Warren, assistant director of the Center for the Study of American Business.

"In fact, this budget calls for the largest head count ever — 128,615 people — to run the federal regulatory apparatus," Warren wrote in "Mixed Message: An Analysis of the 1994 Federal Regulatory Budget."

Thus, Clinton's first budget sends a mixed message on the success of his attempts to reduce the size of government in the area of regulation, Warren claims.

The Center for the Study of American Business has tracked the government's regulatory spending for 15 years. The center's executive director is economist Murray Weidenbaum, former President Ronald Reagan's first chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and a longtime critic of government regulation.

The center is on the campus of Washington University. In a study last year, Warren found that complying with federal regulations costs the private sector $395 billion to $510 billion each year. That translates into $4,100 to $5,400 per family.

"Because the price of regulation is typically buried in the cost of goods and services to consumers, most people do not realize what they pay for federal regulation," Warren says.

Clinton's budget for the year beginning Oct. 1 is the first to trim regulatory spending since 1987, Warren says. At the same time, the number of regulators is projected to increase 0.6 percent to 128,615.

Warren's review of previous budgets found that regulatory agencies hired about 1 percent more workers than planned by the budget.

Spending on "social" regulation would decline 4.5

percent under Clinton's fiscal 1994 budget. That type of regulation is designed to achieve goals such as cleaner air and water, equal employment opportunity and consumer and worker safety.

The budget for industry-specific "economic" regulation will increase 4 percent.

Warren points to mixed messages from agencies slated for staff and budget cuts. Staffing at the Environmental Protection Agency will drop 1.3 percent (about 220 positions), yet

"these proposed cuts come at a time when EPA's workload is increasing," she says.

Similarly, the head count at the Food and Drug Administration is to drop 1.8 percent (230 positions), according to the Clinton budget.

Only two agencies, the Export Administration and the Council on Environmental Quality (which Clinton tried to eliminate but Congress refused), will trim employment by 25 percent, the goal 73 the president set in his economic message in February.

Blood pressure to be tested here

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's CardioPulmonary Rehab wants to help you keep track of your blood pressure level. The registered nurses in the program will offer a free blood pressure screening Monday, Oct. 4, from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Wal-Mart store off Route 3.

High blood pressure is often called the silent killer. Many people who have it notice no symptoms and feel fine during the early stages. It can be easily treated if detected early.

Anyone can have high blood pressure, but it tends to run in families and is more common among men.

Women may develop hypertension while pregnant or taking birth control pills. Blacks are twice as prone to high blood pressure. People who are short and heavy or overweight are also in greater danger.

Some possible symptoms of high blood pressure are breathlessness, nosebleeds with no apparent cause, and severe localized headaches that occur early in the morning and are accompanied by nausea and dizziness.

Bullet train in running for new rail route

SPRINGFIELD—The world's fastest passenger train is the latest European competitor for a proposed high-speed rail corridor between Chicago and St. Louis.

The sleek white German Inter-City Express, with such high-tech luxuries as television monitors for seats in first-class cars, was in the area this week.

The ICE train rolled past Amtrak stations in Alton and Carlinville en route to St. Louis on last week as part of a nationwide tour before being placed in service next month for at least five weeks between New York and Washington.

An electrified-version of the train now operates on more than 1,400 miles of track in Germany. It went into service in 1991 and has set passenger train world-record speeds of more than 250 mph and can cruise as fast as 175 mph in regular service.

The large number of grade crossings, track conditions and lack of electrified rails in Illinois limited Monday's ICE train speed to the track-maximum 79 mph, but speeds of up to 140 mph are planned on the East Coast on electrified rail.

Before being tested by Amtrak on the New York-Washington run, the train is being taken on tour by its builders, a partnership between the German firms of Siemens and AEG.

In June, the Swedish-built X2000 train visited the area as part of its nationwide tour. The Swedish and German train builders are competing to be a part of the future high-speed rail in the United States, including the Chicago-St. Louis corridor.

Amtrak plans to purchase 26 fast trains next year for the northeast corridor and the makers of the X2000 and ICE train, each with U.S. subsidiaries, are planning to bid.

Helmut Weinmann, vice president of Siemens Transportation Inc., said Monday the ICE train could be operated with a diesel engine on the Chicago-St. Louis route and if crossing and track problems are solved, could regularly hit speeds of up to 125 mph.

The X2000 owners boasted about their train's computerized tilt device that allows it to take curves at higher speeds, but Weinmann contended it was not needed on the virtually straight Chicago-St. Louis route.

Weinmann said if Siemens and AEG won the contract to supply the trains, they would be built in the United States and the diesel engines could be made under a partnership agreement with General Motors Corp. at its Electromotive Plant in LaGrange.

A Siemens subsidiary built the cars for the new St. Louis MetroLink system.

The ICE train here included three second-class cars, a business-oriented service car, a restaurant and bistro car and a first-class car, all gleaming high-tech luxury in subtle shades of red, gray and white.

Sleek, gold-flecked glass doors open automatically between cars with seats in a variety of configurations of two and three facing each other in open areas and in compartments.

Like the X2000, the ICE delivered a substantially smoother and quieter ride than the trains now used by Amtrak.

Emergency watershed center opens

The Soil Conservation Service has opened an Emergency Watershed Protection Response Center at 300 Junction Drive, Suite 314, Edwardsville.

Charles Whitmore, state conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, said the SCS, with its expert knowledge on watershed functions and erosion control, is prepared to help local communities and restore watershed areas to their original pre-flood states.

The Emergency Watershed Program is available to help remove blockage or impairments from streams, rivers and tributaries, to stop critical stream-bank erosion, and to help protect public facilities such as roads or bridges that are in imminent danger of being damaged beyond repair.

The program will provide financial and technical help to restore the natural water courses to pre-flood conditions to prevent further flooding in future storms.

Federal funds may cover the bulk of the construction costs required to restore and re-establish the watershed. The remaining cost must be paid by the community and/or sponsors in the form of cash, in-kind services, such as labor or equipment, or a combination of cash and in-kind services.

In dire emergency situations, special arrangements may be made for 100 percent federal funding assistance. This must be authorized, however, by top SCS officials.

Black powder — The Illinois Territorial Rangers 17th Regiment Company B, pictured at left, will demonstrate the use of old-fashioned black powder weapons at the Southwestern Illinois Cultural celebration Sunday at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College. Emceeding the event will be Victoria Babu, Sunday morning anchor at KTVI Channel 2. Also appearing will be the Korean Samulnori Drummers, pictured below left, from the Korean Cultural Resource Center. Both the rangers and the drummers performed at the first celebration last year.

Foot Notes

by Dr. Armand A. Kachigian

DIABETES: IF THE SHOE FITS

Meticulous foot care is a fact of life for people living with diabetes. What is sometimes less understood, however, is that such care must also extend to what goes on the feet. To start with, shoes and socks must fit correctly, causing no restrictions or pressure on points of the foot. Constricting shoes or tall, tight-legged boots are off limits. Foot-wear materials must be soft, flexible and porous, such as soft leather or cloth.

Neither reptile skins, patent leathers nor synthetics are suitable. Stocking must also fit comfortably and be friction-free. Never wear circular garters or stockings with tight top bands. Also, don't wear support hose unless approved by your doctor, as these can inhibit circulation.

P.S. A diabetic should never walk barefoot, due to the danger of splinters and injury.

SIUE dorm construction work OK'd

Contracts for construction of a 500-bed residence hall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were formally approved recently by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The contracts, totaling $11.4 million, were awarded by the board's Executive Committee on Aug. 18 to expedite completion of the project within one year.

Construction of the university's first dormitory-type facility was launched Aug. 25 with a groundbreaking ceremony and remarks by SIUE President Earl Lazerson at the former site of the university police station, immediately south of Circle Drive.

The contractors and award amounts are:
• General construction work — S.M. Wilson & Co., Granite City, $6,616,775; heating, piping, refrigeration and automatic temperature control work — Kane Mechanical Inc., Wood River, $721,000; plumbing work, Kane Mechanical, $1,166,400; fire protection work, Bi-State Fire Protection, St. Charles, Mo., $331,750; ventilating and distribution system for conditioned air — Fritz, Inc., Belleville, $263,215; and electrical work, J.F. Electric, Edwardsville, $1,055,000.

Lazerson said the project is the culmination of many years of planning and will provide on-campus housing for many students from all over Illinois who have expressed an interest in attending SIUE. He said the facility will ensure more traditional university academic and cultural opportunities for students.

Contracts will be awarded later for another component of the student facilities project — renovation of Tower Lake Apartments and the University Food Service, which will provide meals for residents within convenient walking distance from the student residence hall. Total cost of this phase is estimated at $1.4 million. Architect for the component is FGM, Inc., Belleville.

New members join SEMC advisory board

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, has named three new members to its advisory board.

Robert Lombardi of Granite City, Jack Johnson of Glen Carbon and Jerry Biscopink of Chesterfield, Mo., were recently appointed to the board's finance committee.

"Each of these new members brings added expertise from different industries, and all are very active in our community," said Paul Raczkiewicz, executive vice president. "We welcome all of them to the medical center."

The committee meets quarterly to discuss a wide variety of financial concerns, including the medical center's budget, insurance and pension plans.

It also attends joint advisory board committee meetings held four times each year. The new members recently attended an orientation to become better acquainted with SEMC's services.

Lombardi, owner of Lombardi Furniture and Interiors in Granite City, brings many years of financial experience to the committee. He is vice chairman of the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority and a board member of Central Bank, Granite City.

"Because of the various board positions I hold, I sit in on about five meetings a month strictly dealing with financial matters," he said. "I believe this experience and 30 years of running a successful business will enable me to contribute to the committee."

Johnson, vice president of operations at A.O. Smith Corp., Granite City, said, "As a committee member, I hope to help maximize the income of the medical center."

Other community organizations Johnson is involved in include Junior Achievement, Chamber of Commerce, Southern Illinois Industrial Association and Tri-Cities Area United Way.

Biscopink, plant manager of Nestle Beverage Co., Granite City, and former board member of a Pennsylvania medical center, said he is happy to again fulfill his interest in medical delivery systems.

"I feel St. Elizabeth has a great deal to do with the prosperity of the Granite City area," he said. "I have always had a great interest in the work medical centers do for their communities."

Biscopink also serves as campaign chair for the Tri-Cities Area United Way and executive board member of the Southern Illinois Industrial Association.

in his or her community. When that opportunity is wasted, the community itself is the loser," the resolution states.

Selph said he has firm commitments for partial financial backing for the center from at least two leaders of area civic and business organizations — the Pontoon Beach Lions Club and the Knights of Columbus.

He said other groups, such as the Granite City Rotary Club, have expressed interest, and one private individual has expressed "substantial interest" in providing funding for the project.

And while the project is still in isn't beneficial to try to continue with just point repairs," he said.

He said the cities are considering asking FEMA for reimbursement under "hazard mitigation" guidelines, which would require preparing and submitting a new application.

"We will attempt to show the cost-effectiveness of Insituform over the long term," Juneau said. Juneau cited three recent sewer breaks, all in a single sewer line, on Interstate 70, just east of Denver Street, as an example.

set St. Louis apart from other communities.

"Volunteers are the heartbeat of a community," he said. "We are the legs on which a community moves. I continue to be amazed with what volunteers can do. They are unsung heroes." Old Newsboys Day has been a St. Louis tradition since it was started in 1954.

Each year, on the Thursday before Thanksgiving, thousands of volunteers hit the street corners in the Interstate area and hawk special edition Suburban Journals. Every penny collected goes to the city to help defray the cost of local children's agencies. Since the drive began, more than $5 million has been raised. Last year's drive raised almost $215,000.

Individuals and groups are encouraged to join their friends and neighbors as Old Newsboys Day volunteers. Health President's plan," Dr. Arthur R. Traugott, the society's president, said in a press release.

"It appears the plan offers both tremendous opportunity for needed reform and potential danger to our nation's ability to provide quality health care to patients," he said.

The society lauded Clinton's plan for universal access to medical care but questioned the "unprecedented intrusion of a centralized government authority into our economy and especially into our everyday lives."

Even some members of the Campaign for Better Health Care, which supports the Clinton plan, are advocating seeking constitutional changes.

Charles Mohr, a former president of the Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, said the plan should be changed to have the government be the sole funding source for medical care.

Clinton has called for a combination of governmental, employer and patient funding.

"It's a good idea," to U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello and say we the planning stages and Selph is open to suggestions, he has a good idea of what he wants.

"I'd like to see a place where kids can go to weekend dances with a DJ, where there would be recreation equipment like video games and pool tables."

"Maybe we could have a small, grade-school-size gym for volleyball and basketball. There would be a room set aside for meetings or studies or watching television," he said.

"But we want it to be versatile to attract as many young people as we can."

Selph said he has met with members of the Park Board and they expressed an interest in taking over the facility once it is established.

"They were very receptive," Selph said.

"This is going to be an expensive project to run and (involving) the park district makes the most sense," he said.

Input from teenagers and the location of the facility will be keys to the project's success, he said.

Selph said he would like to see at least one trustee of the fund appointed from the Granite City High School Student Council.

He also said that a location near the high school would be ideal.

"This is the area (where) the kids like to congregate and I think it is important we keep that in mind," Selph said.

than to continue to throw money into point repairs," Selph said.

"If you are going to fix points, you can fix points forever."

The city has already applied for about $1 million in costs associated with the flood. FEMA has so far approved about $425,000 in qualifying costs, which would leave the city with a $325,000 reimbursement at the 80 percent level, MacTaggart said.

He said most of the remaining costs applied for but subsequently denied were to reimburse the city to line the sewer pipes with the Insituform process.

Juneau said that, if FEMA continues to deny funding for Insituform, it will be up to the City Council to decide whether to go ahead with the permanent repairs.

The council decided last month to make temporary repairs to damaged sewer lines until FEMA made a decision.

Under a policy previously announced by FEMA Director James Lee Witt, Illinois would have received 75 percent reimbursement while neighboring Missouri would have probably garnered 90 percent.

That policy would have required a state to have damages of at least $4 per person to qualify for 90 percent. Because of its large population, Illinois was unable to qualify for the higher rate, state officials said.

Clinton's new policy will provide 90 percent reimbursement if a state's damage from a federally declared disaster exceeds 0.1 percent of the U.S. gross domestic product.

support a single payer and get a good American health plan for all," Mohr said. "We can do it if we work as one. Thank the president for getting the ball rolling."

Pat Pevery, director of nursing services at Anderson Hospital in Maryville, lauded the plan to cut back on paperwork in health care.

Pevery said a study about four years ago showed that nurses at Anderson were spending nearly 80 percent of their time on indirect care — things like paperwork and telephone calls.

"We in nursing are excited about the fact that there is going to be less paperwork," Pevery said. "Nursing has been inundated over the last five years with more and more paperwork requirements."

Pevery also said she was happy that Clinton's plan shifts emphasis onto preventive care, which currently isn't covered

Denial of Social Security disability benefits can be appealed

By Bill Hunsot
Social Security Administration

Q. Why is a person more likely to win a Social Security disability claim on appeal than when he or she first applies for benefits?

A. Actually, most people who receive Social Security disability benefits were approved on their first try. However, that doesn't change the fact that many people, as you've noticed, are denied at first and then allowed on appeal.

It's very difficult to meet Social Security's definition of disability. More than half of applications for disability benefits are turned down. Applicants who are turned down have the right to appeal.

For an explanation of how disability decisions are made, call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 and ask for a free copy of the publication "Disability."

Q. I will turn 62 in November. I was married to my ex-husband for 18 years. I heard that he started drawing Social Security recently. I had a second husband, but my second marriage ended in divorce after only three years. What would be the procedure to apply for Social Security benefits on my first husband?

A. Once you turn 62, you will meet all the requirements to get benefits as an ex-spouse. You were married to your "ex" for at least 10 years, and you are unmarried and at least 62.

About two months before your 62nd birthday, call Social Security and make an appointment at your local office.

People there will help you complete an application for benefits. Submit your birth certificate and the marriage certificate and divorce decree from your first marriage.

Since being unmarried is a requirement for this type of benefit, Social Security also will ask to see your divorce decree from your second marriage.

Q. I'm 63 years old and I've been off work for the past few months with some medical problems. I want to go back to work, but my doctor says I should retire. If I apply for Social Security benefits now, won't my checks be reduced?

Social Security retirement benefits are reduced five-ninths of 1 percent for each month you receive them before age 65. At age 63, that would be a 13 percent reduction. However, if you qualify for Social Security disability benefits, you'll receive your full amount as if you already were 65.

Apply for Social Security disability benefits at the same time you apply for Social Security retirement benefits. The retirement application will be processed more quickly than the disability application, and your benefit amount will be reduced at first.

But if your disability application is later approved, your benefit amount will be increased.

For Your Information: In 1990, only 16 percent of people 65 and older received Social Security. And 22 percent received "old age assistance" (now called Supplemental Security Income or SSI). Today, more than 92 percent receive Social Security and 6 percent receive SSI.

Ex-Busch employee joins BAC faculty Senior menus

After working for a dozen years in the marketing and sales department of the St. Louis Brewery that makes "the king of beers," Sue Taylor hopes to make Belleville Area College's marketing program tops in its class.

With the start of the fall semester, Taylor joined the BAC faculty as an instructor in the division of business and as coordinator of the division's marketing program. Taylor, who had taught for the college part-time since the fall of 1991, replaces Harry Oakley, who retired in June after 20 years at the college.

"Though Taylor enjoyed her years at Anheuser-Busch, she is very happy to be in the classroom on a full-time basis. 'I truly enjoy teaching,' she said. 'I enjoy contact with the people. It's great helping someone achieve their goals.' Taylor worked at Anheuser-Busch for 12 years before leaving in 1990. The following year, she received her master's degree in marketing from Webster University in St. Louis.

This semester, Taylor has a relatively light load, teaching two sections of Introduction to Marketing. She is using her extra time outside the classroom to settle into her duties as marketing program coordinator. One main goal Taylor has for the marketing program is to make the class material more relevant to the business world.

"My personal goal is to create more hands-on activity," she said. Taylor envisions a time when students in the marketing management class would complete a marketing plan that could be implemented by an area business. She also sees a time when students in the salesmanship class would practice doing sales calls while being videotaped throughout the semester, as opposed to just finishing a final class project.

"I also want to try to bring in different professionals to speak to the classes," Taylor said. One area in the business division where Taylor sees real growth potential is the real estate program.

"The appraisal business is booming. It's a very popular area," she said. Taylor wants to finish the work that Oakley and others began on the real estate program.

"One of my duties is to clarify the program information and requirements so people know what we offer."

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Last spring certainly doesn't seem that far back, does it? Just think, it was only a little while ago that the last snow melted, and we were telling you how to get your lawn ready for summer. Now, here it is late September already, and we're about to discuss winter!

There are still a few weeks to go before most people get serious about winter, but gardeners have to give it some thought much earlier. Like now. Trees and plants need to be protected, and a great time to begin doing it is while temperatures are still quite pleasant.

It's very frustrating to have a plant that you've nurtured all summer die over the winter. Protecting the plant from the harsh winter elements isn't all that difficult, and it will help to ensure that it will be alive and well next spring.

Plants that are correctly planted, watered and fertilized stand the best chance of withstanding the winter. Trees and shrubs begin to prepare for winter in mid-summer by slowing their growth rate and firming their stems. That's why you should do all your pruning before late July.

Plants
Many plants, no matter how well they were planted and cared for, still need some additional winter protection. Evergreens, especially broadleaf, keep their leaves or needles all year. But the sun and wind draw water from the foliage. The north side of plants is more susceptible to wind damage, the sun does the destructive work on the south side. Plants can't replace the lost water when the ground is frozen, thus dry brown areas (scorch) develop on the foliage.

You can take steps to reduce this water loss. Apply water when necessary during winter thaws to help prevent scorch. Screens made of burlap protect sensitive plants from both sun and wind, or use an antidesiccant such as Wilt-Pruf.

Trees
The thin young bark of newly planted trees is very sensitive. Winter sun can burn the exposed bark. This is known as sunscald. Trees may also suffer from frost cracks. The bark of the tree's trunk, especially the side facing south, splits from the rapid heating and cooling that often occurs on sunny winter days. Fortunately, there's an easy way to protect young trees. Wrap their trunks in protective paper tree wrap.

Roses
These plants are sensitive to cold temperatures. When left unprotected, rose canes may be damaged, or worse, the entire plant may die. Roses growing where temperatures normally fall below 20°F require maximum protection. Since the St. Louis area falls into that category, your roses will need it.

After a hard frost, place a 6-8" layer of mulch or soil over the base of the plant to protect the very sensitive graft area. After a killing frost, cover roses with styrofoam cones, straw or leaves enclosed by chicken wire fence or tar paper. You may have to prune some canes to fit them beneath the protective cover. You may also want to use anti-desiccant sprays to protect the canes.

Fruit Trees
The tender bark at the base of fruit trees and other young trees may become winter fare for mice, rabbits and squirrels. Protect the area by placing specialized tree guards or a 2-3' high mesh fence around the trunk.

By taking these simple precautions now, you can rest assured your plants have optimum protection against whatever the winter has in store.

New symbol on groceries providing more nutrition information

Under a new program, grocery shoppers are now seeing the American Heart Association's name and heart-and-torch symbol on a small number of food packages.

The new nutrition education effort, which went into effect Sept. 1, is called "On-Pack" or "On-Pack" for short.

"On-Pack" will provide information so that American consumers can make informed choices about the food they eat," says James H. Moller, a doctor from Minneapolis and president of AHA.

"This education program is one way we hope to repay Americans for the confidence and support they have for us," says Moller.

Products that carry the AHA's familiar heart-and-torch logo have been determined to be consistent with the association's dietary guidelines, the AHA said in announcing the program.

The AHA diet is a nutritious, well-balanced diet, which emphasizes variety of foods including lean meat, fish, poultry, cereals, breads, fruits and vegetables, and skim and low-fat dairy products.

The AHA urges individuals to consume less than 30 percent of calories as fat, including less than 10 percent of calories as saturated fat; less than 300 milligrams of cholesterol per day, and less than 3,000 milligrams of sodium per day.

Any food producer except those owned by tobacco companies, their subsidiaries or their parent corporations can submit a product for approval to bear the AHA logo.

A product review panel, composed of volunteer scientists and key staff nutrition experts, checks the product's label to see whether the product meets the association's food criteria for a healthful diet.

"On-Pack" has already been compared to AHA's HeartGuide Program. HeartGuide was proposed several years ago but was pulled back from market introduction because of objections by the food industry and the Food and Drug Administration, the federal government regulatory agency that enforces all food labeling laws except those for meat and fish.

Unlike HeartGuide, On-Pack does not require that a food company pay any fees to the AHA.

There is no laboratory testing of products. And the AHA will rely on the FDA and the 1990 Nutrition Labeling and Education Act to ensure that food labels are truthful.

So far The Quaker Oats Company is the only food company that has had products approved for "On-Pack."

Its approved products are Quaker quick and old-fashioned oats. Approval is by single product only to assure that each product meets the AHA's criteria.

Two other companies and three more products are in various stages of the application and review process.

There is no charge to food companies for the review or for the use of the AHA logo. However, approved products must also carry a nutrition education message from the AHA on the label.

The message approved for use on the two Quaker products reads: "This product is consistent with the American Heart Association dietary guidelines, when used as part of a total balanced diet. The AHA does not endorse any product, service or equipment."

Table
Talk

Ernest Hagenmueller, principal of St. Paul's Lutheran School, tends one of the aromatic pots of apples, cinnamon and sugar over an open kettle fire to make apple butter for the church's roast beef and potato pancake dinner Oct. 3. A tradition at the church, the annual PTO project involves cooking 100 bushels of apples from Friday night into Saturday morning next to the school in Des Peres to produce the sweet, delicious topping that will bring memories of autumn '93 to the top of muffins and toast all winter long.

PEELING APPLES

Crunchy apples and sweet cinnamon etch the season in an autumn kitchen. Abundance and freshness vie with sweet-tart, juicy crunch for favorite attributes. The best time for apples and cinnamon, though, is when they are warm, because their appetizing aroma permeates into the seams of a home. Apple recipes are abundant; good ones are treasured.

When "Table Talk" asked for yours, there was little discussion. They came with simple adjectives like "favorite," "easy to make" and "delicious."

Apples seem to erupt like geysers. When you are in an orchard, one bag can multiply into two or three in a hurry. Many people luckily have a back-yard source. For those whose resolve to be moderate fades in the face of an apple bonanza, the number of apples should last as long as possible.

Luckily, the fruit is agreeable. Keeping apples in a cool location — 32° to 40° is ideal — is best. Holding in their moisture is a long-term goal. Some people wrap them in plastic; others cover them with a damp towel.

Choose apples that are ripe but still firm. One bad apple easily spoils the barrel, as the saying goes, so check periodically for defects. When using apples in recipes, one pound — 4 small, 3 medium or 2 large — yields about 3 cups diced or 2½ cups peeled, sliced fruit. Their versatility endears them to any cook or non-cook. To keep their flesh light, drop slices into a bowl with water and a bit of lemon juice or add to other juicy citrus fruit. Add sweetening only as needed because the fruit's sweetness varies by type and ripeness.

Cinnamon is not the only spice that matches apples well. Allspice, nutmeg, ginger, cloves and curry powder share the aromatic spotlight, but use each one a pinch at a time to check how well it is liked before adding by the whole or even partial teaspoonful.

Here are some favorites to share over "Table Talk." Wilma Kachler's Country-Style Apple Cake is a classic with or without the frosting. Jane Nadler usually has a lot of apples, so she cooks them into a filling to use later in pies, coffeecake and other goodies. While she usually cans this, directions are given to freeze the mixture to avoid having the thickening inhibit thorough heating. Donna Halter likes to fry jonathan or gala apples as an easy breakfast treat.

Miriam Walsh shows the tasty match of sausage and apples, has concocted a new favorite salad and revised a brown Betty recipe to use apple pie filling — canned or using Nadler's recipe — in an ultra-easy snack which could be served as a breakfast treat. Great-Grandmother's Apple Cake was a Journal favorite when it was published about 15 years ago.

Today's market — from grocery store to orchard stand — offers its share of apple varieties. Jonathans, delicious and winneps have familiar-sounding names, but romes and granny smiths are becoming as famous. Munchers become ardent fans of specific varieties as they fall for a distinctive crunch and sweet tartness to their liking.

According to Sue Kustmann, spokeswoman for Schmuck Markets Inc., there is no exclusivity in apple varieties. A southern hemisphere native feels at home once it is transplanted to an agreeable orchard in Illinois, Washington or New York. That is why names like "gala" and "fuji" are becoming synonymous with traditional types, while "Jon-a-gold" may someday become a passion in Tokyo.

Their availability has to do with supply and demand, too, because there just aren't as many of the new ones available. Each apple stores differently, so they have to learn different procedures for storing them," she says.

Here is a rundown on how to use apple varieties. Some are available during the bounteous fall season, while others are found only during their "fresh" season, when it is winter here in North America.

• Jonathan: The versatile jonathan has bright red skin with creamy white flesh. Its medium tart flavor and pleasant aroma make it a great all-around choice for snacking, cooking, baking and salads.

• Red delicious: This is the world's most popular apple for eating. It is mildly sweet, juicy and crunchy. Best for snacks, salads and desserts, rather than cooking.

• Golden delicious: The ultimate all-purpose variety, golden delicious has an especially tender skin and a delicate, mellow-sweet flavor. Good for snacking, cooking, baking and salads.

• Jon-a-gold: This is a large, golden-skinned apple with reddish blush. The jon-a-gold is sweet, firmly textured and very juicy. Combining two favorite apple varieties, it is fast becoming a favorite for both snacking and cooking.

• Granny smith: Best known of the green-skinned varieties. It provides a tart, crisp taste which makes it a natural choice for snacking, cooking or baking.

• Red romes: With spherical shape and brilliant red skin, this apple is a premium cooking and baking apple. Red romes retain their taste, firmness and texture when cooked.

• McIntosh: Renowned for juiciness and tangy flavor, the McIntosh has an orchard-fresh aroma and distinctive red-yellow coloring. Best for snacking, cooking or cider.

• Empire: Mid-season variety. Cross between McIntosh and red delicious. A dark red apple with pure white flesh, the empire is best for fresh eating and salads.

• Crispin: Large, round apple with fine firm texture. Cross between golden delicious and indo, a Japanese variety. Excellent snacking and cooking apple.

• Winesap: Deep red to violet-red apple with mildly tart, spicy flavor. Winesap flavor stays lively when baked. It makes thick juicy sauce. Best choice for cider.

• Newtown pippin: Originated in New York City almost 300 years ago, this apple has greenish-yellow skin in a wide range of sizes. Its crisp, juicy flesh is slightly tart and highly aromatic. Keeps well and is great for cooking.

• Royal gala: A recent addition from New Zealand, the royal gala has a distinctive oval shape and golden-yellow skin with an orange blush. Spicy sweetness and crunchy texture make it ideal for snacking. Very flavorful.

• Spartan: Similar in color and shape to the McIntosh, spartan has bright white flesh with firm, juicy texture and an unusually small core. Equally well-suited for snacking or cooking.

• Fuji: From yellow-green with red highlights to nearly solid red, the fuji is sweet, mild, crisp and juicy. Excellent eaten fresh, fine for cooking. Stores well.

• Crispango: Bold yellow, often with red blush. Sometimes called the candy apple. Very sweet, crisp, flavorful and juicy. Particularly good fresh, but also fine for baking. A little lemon juice in recipe enhances sweet yet tangy taste. Distinctive apple for snacking, salad and fruit tray. Retains flavor and holds up to cooking.

• Braburn: Moderately tart, braburn is crisp and juicy with a tender skin. When cooked it retains its sharp flavor and shape and bakes evenly.

FRIED (GREEN AND RED) APPLES

From Donna Heller, St. Louis

- 4 to 5 apples, peeled or unpeeled, thinly sliced
- 1 tbsp. margarine
- Pinch cinnamon and sugar combination

In 10-inch skillet, melt margarine. Add apples. Cook, covered tightly, over medium heat. Apples make their own water as they cook. When apples are as soft as desired — they should not be applesauce — sprinkle with cinnamon mixture. Leave apples, uncovered, in pan 2 to 3 minutes. Apples shrink as they cook. Serve immediately. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

APPLE PIE FILLING IN A JAR

From Jane Nadler, Wright City

- 10 cups water
- 4½ cups sugar
- 1 cup cornstarch
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 to 3 drops red food coloring

Allow 2 to 3 lb. apples per quart (average total amount is 19 lb.)

In large saucepan, blend sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Stir in water. Cook and stir until mixture comes to boil and thickens. Add lemon juice and food coloring. Remove from heat.

Fill wide-mouthed jars or freezer containers with apples almost to rim. Add hot thickened syrup, leaving enough space for expansion. Cover with lids. Freeze.

Makes 7 quarts.

COUNTRY-STYLE APPLE CAKE

- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 cups grated apple
- 2 eggs, beaten

Preheat oven to 325°. Grease and flour 9-by-13-inch pan.

Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and sugar. Using low speed of electric mixer, add eggs and oil. Stir in nuts, raisins, vanilla and apple. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven 1 hour.

Frosting: Blend together ¼ cup (½ stick) butter, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 2 cups confectioner's sugar.

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER'S APPLE CAKE

From Journal files

- 10 large apples
- 3 cups sugar
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup orange juice
- ¼ cup oil
- 3 cups flour
- 3 large eggs
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- ¼ tsp. baking soda

Preheat oven to 350°.

In large bowl, combine apples, sugar and orange juice. Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon and salt into separate bowl. Beat together oil and eggs. Blend into flour mixture. Stir into apples. Batter will be thick. Pour into ungreased 9-by-13-inch pan, distributing apples as evenly as possible. Sprinkle top with nuts. Bake in preheated oven 45 minutes.

SAUSAGE-APPLE BAKE

From Miriam Walsh, University City

- 1 pkg. cooked maple-flavored breakfast sausages (10 links)
- 2 large crisp apples, granny smiths suggested
- 1 medium onion
- 1 cup fruit juice, orange or apple preferred

Spray medium frying pan with nonstick spray. Cut sausage, onion and apple in bite-size pieces. Lay sausage in pan. Cover with apple and onion. Cook over medium heat until sausage browns. Cook with ¼ cup juice, stirring occasionally, until apples soften but are not mushy. If apples are still hard, continue adding juice and cooking gently until juice is evaporated and apples are cooked through. Makes 2 servings.

DRIED FRUIT AND APPLE SALAD

From Miriam Walsh, University City

- 2 granny smith or other tart apples
- 2 cups raisins
- 6 figs
- 6 or 7 dried apricots
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup orange juice

Cut apples in bite-size pieces. Cut dates, figs and apricots in smaller pieces. Mix apples, dates, figs, apricots and raisins. Add orange juice. Cover. Let stand overnight. Amounts of fruit can be adjusted. Makes about 5 servings.

APPLE BROWN MIRIAM

From Miriam Walsh, University City

- 1 can (20 oz.) apple pie filling
- 2 cups raisin bran cereal
- 2 tsp. margarine or butter, melted
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- Granulated sugar

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease or spray deep casserole with nonstick spray.

Mix cereal with cinnamon. Mix thoroughly with margarine. Place one-third cereal on bottom. Cover with half the apples. Repeat. Put remaining cereal on top. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in preheated oven about 25 minutes until flakes are very brown. Serve warm or cold. Makes about 5 servings.

Next Table Talk:
Let's do lunch!

'Tis the season for lunch boxes.

What is a favorite at your house? Is there a way to pack it that meets with approval from your small fry? Peanut butter and what else is the latest trend? What do you pick up at the deli to go in a sandwich for yourself or a mate? What type of bread stays firm the best? Is there a vote for Dijon mustard over regular yellow, or who goes after low-fat instead of regular mayo? What is in your lunch today? What is the worst thing you can think of in a brown bag lunch? How do you pack salad to keep well?

Tell us so the idea — small or large — can be shared. Take stock of today's lunch and write to: Table Talk — Lunches, Food Editor, Suburban Journals, 1714 Dear Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131, or fax it over lunch to (314) 351-0443.

Women should learn smoking does not key weight control

By Patricia Guffey
Registered Dietitian
American Heart Association
St. Louis Chapter

"It's a habit."
"I feel more relaxed."
"It helps me control my weight."
To a woman who smokes, these reasons may sound altogether too familiar.
Relaxing and managing weight are worthwhile goals, but smoking is not the way to achieve them, says Barbara Barber, smoking cessation facilitator at St. Luke's Hospital.
"It's sad, but true. While more women than men are taking up smoking, more men than women are quitting," she concedes.
Barber explains a woman who smokes is at much greater risk for heart disease, stroke and cancer than one who does not. In fact, lung cancer now kills more women than breast cancer.

I Love Eating

A former smoker herself, Barber understands factors that motivate women to smoke.
"Society puts great pressure on us to be thin and to appear in control. Cigarette companies exploit us with promises of being slim, glamorous and unflappable."

As for fear of weight gain, Barber points out that some women step to the scale differently because they fail to realize what happens when they quit.
"A smoker burns more calories because her metabolic rate is usually higher than that of a non-smoker. Women who stop smoking not only experience a drop in metabolic rate; they often eat more to fill the void met by cigarettes."

Fortunately, quitters are not doomed automatically to weight gain.
"Keep a food diary," she advises. "Know exactly what you are putting in your mouth. You'll be amazed. Replace some of those high-fat munchies like potato chips and nuts with lower-fat pretzels and fresh veggies. Also, find exercise you enjoy. Commit to it. Exercise burns calories, raises your metabolic rate and makes you feel great."

There are many benefits to stopping smoking or never starting in the first place. When you stop, you will have:

- Better smelling hair, clothes, car and home.
- Fresher breath.
- More money to spend.
- Fewer wrinkles as you get older.
- More energy.
- More control of your health.

This last point is one of Barber's favorites.

"Most women notice a marked rise in self-esteem when they quit, in part because smoking no longer controls them. Also, exercising makes them feel good and returns to them a sense of mastery over their own health."
Here are her final words of advice to women who smoke:

"If you smoke, get help to stop. It is the most precious gift you can give yourself."

A by-product of not smoking is that the taste buds are keener and eating is a more flavorful experience. This luscious salad dressing has half the fat of regular dressing to help control calories, but an aromatic and light flavor that is twice as delicious without the lingering tobacco taste. Sprinkle it lightly over crisp greens and diced vegetables.

Apricot walnut dressing

- 1/2 cup apricot nectar
- 3 tbsp. walnut or peanut oil
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 2 tbsp. boiling hot water
- Salt and pepper to taste

In small mixing bowl, whisk oil and mustard into apricot nectar. Add boiling water. Whisk slowly until well blended. Salt and pepper.

Makes 1/2 cup dressing; 55 calories, 5 g fat and no cholesterol per 1 1/2-tablespoon serving.

Recipe adapted from "Spa Lite" by Walnut Marketing Board, 350 Pacific Ave., San Francisco, Calif. 94111.
The American Heart Association is entering its final month of "I Love Eating" cooking classes for this year. Class will meet from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. two Wednesdays in October at the Missouri Botanical Garden. Admission to the garden that morning and to the class is free, but registration is required. To register for a class or obtain a free copy of American Heart Association's informational brochure, "Women and Smoking," call 45-HEART.

Recipe

Winning chicken dish cooks up Mexican-style

Judy Cooper, Fenton, is this week's winner of dinner certificates for the Pasta House Company for Mexican Chicken.

Tangy Tex-Mex flavors come from tomatoes canned with peppers, chili powder and taco chips. The recipe originated with workers at a power company in Arkansas. A long-standing family favorite, it can be made ahead and frozen, or cut in fat and sodium by using corn tortillas, torn in pieces, with more chili powder.

Weekly winners on the four Wednesdays in October will be taken from entries in the Use-Your-Noodle Recipe Contest, which should be postmarked by tomorrow. The next contest's entries should be for cookies, so they can be shared in November before the holidays.

A single recipe can be entered in either or both contests. Send it to: Use-Your-Noodle Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

One winner each week will be chosen on the basis of taste and eye appeal, as well as originality, although the recipe need not be original. Double-check directions and specific amounts, giving variations that individualize the recipe.

If possible, tell where the recipe came from and give specific information about special touches that give it a personal signature. Indicate which Journal newspaper you receive.

Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with rules.

- 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) cream of celery soup
- 1 jar (4 oz.) diced pimientos
- 1 can (12 oz.) tomatoes with green chilies, diced

By Tom

This summer, I enjoyed a nia cruise on the David Lewis-Davidson. As much as I loved the boat, I went into it with a lot of trepidation. My itinerary was full of visits to scenic spots. My month-long tour of the bureau's scenic spots had been disappointing. While on the boat, I went onto the island at the time. The boat was gobbling up the roads, highways, and through the soul; scenery, seats, and lets.

This was a summer encounter of campers. Where we were on each other, unknown to the place to see.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Sept. 29
Neptune in Capricorn goes direct in motion. Confusing business conditions continue to prevail. But there is light at the end of the tunnel powered by inspiration and imagination. Be open to your visionary instincts, and trust your intuition completely. Then, test your instincts with cool logic, and you'll come out a winner in the long run. Avoid making false starts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Inside, you are much more than your image of yourself or the fantasy others have of you. A career without challenge is a career that you should just let go. Expect a busy early morning.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). A sense that you're spinning your wheels is not uncommon on a day like today. Your psychic scanning device (your head) is about to pick up information that may amaze you. Hold off on new projects.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). If others offer their sage advice, you probably won't take it—exasperating them to no end! Devoting some of your time to routine activities clears the decks for an eventful tomorrow. Everything comes full circle.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Obsessing about emotional issues isn't worth the time or effort—focus on solutions, not problems. The quiet, unobtrusive moments are precious. If you're confused or suffering, pour your heart out in your journal.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Check on your checking or savings account—the bank may have made an error in its records. Use fantasies as a way to stimulate your creativity, not as an escape. You could be married before the year concludes.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 29). Cultivate a more relaxed outlook, regardless of how things appear to be. Self-knowledge is a must in November and January. Business strengthens your character in December and February. In '94, delve more into your own head. Study, reflect, rest and clear out the social vampires who are feeding on your generosity. Relationship magic flourishes in May and August.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Do yourself a favor and keep your expectations of others within sensible bounds. In order to get the most out of a relationship, focus on what you have to give, not take. You may be overdrawn on your checking account.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). You'll be doubly appreciated if you continue in your kindly ways. A broken heart can be mended more quickly when you're with people who have a positive attitude. Being around the right colors makes you bright and cheerful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). Life should be about more than mere survival, and you receive ideals on how you can enjoy the fun of life. Someone suffering spiritually will benefit from your compassion. Be conscious of your spending habits!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). If you don't jump on others for their mishaps, they won't jump on you when it's your turn to goof. Life unfolds more smoothly when you listen within and heed inner promptings. Meeting deadlines takes additional effort.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Hopes and wishes can be fulfilled by finding the right group support. Confusion about personal issues is to be expected at a time such as this. Psychic perceptions are nothing to be afraid of.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You have an emotional hunger waiting to be fulfilled by something other than material objects. Preventative health care is better than waiting until you come down with something. Maintain your usual schedule.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). If you'll stop trying to force yourself into a mold that won't fit, you'll discover what you're truly cut out for. Some of your aches and pains may have psychological origins. If you have to work, allow time for numerous interruptions.

'Striking Distance' strikes out

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Bruce Willis throws his acting career to the wind with the release of "Striking Distance," a senseless action film starring Willis as a police officer and former homicide detective in Pittsburgh. Willis' character, Tom Hardy, is despised by his fellow officers. It seems he testified against a partner in a police brutality case. Later, he publicly challenged his own department's prosecution of a suspect in a serial killing case. Hardy thought the guy was innocent. A good supporting cast includes John Mahoney, Tom Sizemore and Dennis Farina.

Rated R (violence and adult language). Running time: 101 minutes.

No money for luxury suites

Dates and numbers worth remembering. Oct. 26-28: The dates of the National Football League owners meeting in Chicago, when we will learn if St. Louis is to return to the NFL.

I DON'T KNOW about you, but I did not purchase one of those luxury suites for the new stadium. The ones priced from $17,500 to $121,000 per year for leases of five, 10 and 15 years. Each seats from 10 to 16 people, with the exception of two large suites for 20 to 28 people. Guess I was upset that the price did not include the cost of tickets.

Of course, there also are club seats from $700 to $2,000 per year for leases of three, five, 10 or 15 years, and those include the ticket cost.

Sorry, I'm broke, but still watching the five-city race for two expansion teams. The initial costs of $140 million is a misnomer since interest charges and lost television revenue are expected to put the cost closer to $200 million each.

Expansion teams get a half share of the TV revenue for the first three years, and almost more amazing is an initial expansion fee of $42 million shortly after the selection and a second payment of $28 million in November 1994. That's half of the $140 million almost a year before the first games are played.

BALTIMORE, MEMPHIS, Charlotte and Jacksonville all have their respective appeal. Regardless of what Pete Rose said about St. Louis on the national radio talk show, the Missourians also are the home of Anheuser-Busch, which drops $43 million annually in advertising into the NFL.

Rose pointed to St. Louis' failure to retain the football Cardinals without any knowledge of the legacy of owner Bill Bidwell or of the current support of the Civic Progress group, which recently underwrote $1.4 million of the unsold premium seats.

Of current value to the Stations, or whatever the St. Louis team will be called, is having the largest population and television market of the cities seeking expansion.

Despite that, I have trouble digesting what Jerry Clinton, president of the St. Louis NFL partnership, said the other day.

"WE KNOW WHAT the value of having a NFL team is to our community," he said. "But that's not the issue. The important thing now is how we can be of value to the NFL."

That's the uppermost part of all our planning — how we can be of value to them.

I've got two answers for that:

1) Pay your bills on time and the NFL and its greedy owners will be delighted; and 2) if you do get an expansion award, return to the Illinois side of the river to push tickets for the spectators who have long been forgotten as the majority when it came to filling Busch Stadium when the football Cardinals were here.

OVERTIME: A season-opening loss to St. Louis Sumner knocked East St. Louis Senior from national high school football rankings. But the state of Illinois is well represented by Wheaton Warrenville South, which has remained in the Top 10 while extending its winning streak to 17 games.

Warrenville South defeated Joliet Catholic 40-34 in two overtimes last season for the Class 5A state championship. In a recent WWS 48-0 victory over Elgin, the winners dressed 75 players for the home game and played them all.

The following week, WWS nudged defending 6A champ Naperville North 14-10 before 8,000 fans.

EXTRA INNINGS: When left-handed pitcher Kirk Rueter of Troyleton, Ill., roared into the major leagues with Montreal the second half of the season, he earned more than $100,000 according to a clause in his contract.

Believe it or not, last year at this time he was playing in sloppypitch softball games, including a Labor Day weekend tourney at New Windsor, Ill., with players from his hometown area, including Nashville.

Convincing win builds confidence for 2-2 Warriors

Shutout gives Granite City positive outlook on season

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Granite City football coach Don Harris had few complaints following his team's dominant performance against Collinsville last Friday.

Among the highlights in the Warriors' 38-0 win were two interceptions by Jeff Ridenour, two touchdowns for Pat Curry, two touchdowns and another 100-yard rushing game for Ron Fisher and a defensive effort that held the struggling Kahoks to just 30 total yards on the night.

THE LEAD WAS 26-0 at halftime, the same score from two weeks ago. But this time, Granite City was ahead.

"We came out and did pretty much what we wanted to do,"

Harris said. "I was just real happy with our effort. Our kids were really fired up."

It took a while for the offense to get going, but the Warriors' defense stifled the Kahoks from the opening quarter on. Granite City held Collinsville to just three yards and one first down in the first half.

Collinsville quarterback Fredie Wills, who left the game in the second quarter with a shoulder injury, was hit for a 2-yard loss on the first play from scrimmage.

"CURRY SET THE tone when he hit (Wills)," Harris said. Curry later intercepted Wills, one of three Granite City pick-offs in the first half. Curry also scored his team's first two touchdowns.

IU's Van Buskirk to redshirt, skip season

Recovery from knee surgery slows down senior midfielder

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

John Van Buskirk's soccer career at Indiana University is back on hold.

Van Buskirk, who underwent knee surgery Jan. 6 after missing most of last season, expected to play this year. But he will instead sit out as a redshirt and prepare to play next season as a fifth-year senior.

Van Buskirk, 21, recently made the decision after his right knee failed to respond to the grind of two-a-day practices last month. He has not played and will have a final year of eligibility intact.

The 1990 Granite City High

School graduate, a criminal justice major, said he had already intended to return to Indiana for a fifth year because of his studies.

"WE THOUGHT THIS would be the best thing to do," Van Buskirk said. "I was real disappointed, but I was going to be here next year anyway."

"During two-a-days, it was bothering me. That's one of the things, that tells you it's not ready."

Indiana coach Jerry Yeagley said the decision was left up to Van Buskirk, a midfielder. The Hoosiers are near the midpoint of the season and Yeagley said it was becoming difficult for Van Buskirk to return to his All-American form.

"The situation as we near mid-season is we consider him to be one of the best players in the country, and we didn't want to have him playing cameo roles when he'd be happier starting," Yeagley said. "Physically and structurally, his knee is fine. But he hasn't had enough time to get his game back. It's taken longer than we thought."

"He's handled it very positively. My hope is he'll be able to step up next year and help lead us to a good season."

The 6-1, 188-pound Van Buskirk is coming off surgery to repair his anterior cruciate ligament, a procedure that often takes up to

Monster trucks invading Tri-City this weekend

The St. Louis area's first long track Monster Truck race roars into Tri-City Speedway this weekend, and the "Playground of Power" hosts the most powerful competition vehicles in its 30-year history.

THE EVENT ALSO marks the first time the BIGFOOT monster trucks, originators of the monster truck phenomenon and based in St. Louis, have been involved in a serious race in their hometown.

Vehicles scheduled to compete on the flat, half-mile dirt track include the current World Champion BIGFOOT, Wildfoot, the newest member of the BIGFOOT racing team, and racing circuit regulars Snake Bite, Magnum Force, No Problem and Executioner. The event offers a complete racing program both days.

In addition, Fastrax, BIGFOOT's twin-engine track vehicle, will perform. Also featured will be street-legal "Tough Trucks," racing over an obstacle course.

BIGFOOT creator and owner Bob Chandler said he is excited about the upcoming event.

All-around play characterizes Cahokia's Houston

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

It's been said that Cahokia football player Dewey Houston can do it all. And last Friday night, the 6-5, 210-pound showed case all his skills in the Comanches' 41-3 drubbing of Roxana.

Houston, a senior tight end/defensive end, caught three passes for 36 yards — including a touchdown — had two sacks, made four tackles and grabbed the first interception of his career.

For his versatile efforts, Houston has been named the East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week.

"It's great. This is the first award that I've ever got," Houston said.

Houston was all over the field in Cahokia's whipping of the then No. 9-ranked team in Class 4A.

He showed why he is being recruited by several major colleges.

In a span of exactly five minutes in the second quarter, Houston registered an interception of a Ryan Collins pass, a 10-yard touchdown reception from Chris Kirk and a sack of Collins.

"I wanted the touchdown," Houston said of his interception return. "Somebody had to step up. Coach (Eden) told us that we had to pressure the quarterback because he can throw. I thought Tires (Driver) and I did a good job of that."

Houston said a new defense implemented by defensive coordinator Tyrus Suggs was the key to shutting down the Shells, who came into the contest averaging 30 points per game.

"It was 28-3 and we were in the huddle and we didn't want to let them get a touchdown on us," Houston said. "We wanted to do it for Coach Suggs."

Eden said Houston is capable of taking over at any time.

"I've never had a player like him," Eden said earlier this season. "He can dominate a game when he wants to."

(Each week, one varsity athlete from Granite City, Madison, Venice, Cahokia, Duplo, East St. Louis or Lincoln high schools is selected by the Journal sports staff as the East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week. Selected athletes are eligible for consideration as the Journal Athlete of the Month.)

touchdowns. Klenour added the other two interceptions, and he returned his second one for a 50-yard touchdown and a 26-0 lead with 1:21 left in the second quarter. Just 30 seconds earlier, Chris Kuit picked up a fumble deep in Collinsville territory and ran eight yards for a touchdown. The two scores off turnovers gave the Warriors some extra momentum, which carried over into the second half. "That kind of broke their backs," Harris said. "The kids were fired up. They wanted to go back out and play real well, and they did." After the two teams exchanged possessions to begin the third quarter, Granite City took over at the Collinsville 46-yard line and found the end zone in six plays. Fisher capped off the drive with a 28-yard scoring pass from quarterback Donald Harris. Fisher struck again with a 49-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter for Granite City's final score. He finished with 100 yards on 14 carries and took over the Warriors' running game in the second half.

Curry and Kuit, meanwhile, combined for 48 yards rushing. "Fisher had another good game," Harris said. "He normally gets most of the yardage, but we've got three good backs. That's helped us this year." Mike Kalips had two carries, one on a reverse that went for 12 yards. Defensively, Harris singled out Brian Koberna and Joe Labary for praise. "Koberna had another big game," Harris said. "He was in their backfield all night." So were most of the other Warriors, who kept the Kahoks out of Granite City territory the entire game. "Our line played an excellent game," Harris said. "They shut just about everything down. That's the kind of football we have to play." With the win, the Warriors improved to 2-2. But Harris realizes the work ahead. The Warriors play at East St. Louis on Saturday. Collinsville (0-4) was hardly a test for Granite City, considering that games against East St. Louis, SLUH and Belleville East have yet to be played. Belleville East is 4-6 after defeating SLUH (3-1) last week.

Belleville West is also undefeated. East St. Louis is 2-2 and coming off its first Southwestern Conference loss in seven years. But the Warriors appear to be much stronger than last year, when they went 1-8 in Harris' first year. "We're not a bad ballteam," Harris said. "The problem we've got this year is everybody else is much better, too. So if you make a couple of mistakes, you lose. We've got our work cut out for us. It's a tough conference."

national championship, is currently 7-1 and ranked third in the country. Van Buskirk has been able to watch the Hoosiers' home games. He has nine goals and three assists over his career. "The games I've seen, we've looked good," Van Buskirk said. "I haven't missed any practices. It's not as bad as it seems. I'll just keep working out and lifting weights." "We want him to have a great final year," Yeagley said.

Labor Day

Elks tourney
Successful again

The Granite City Elks had their most successful turnout to date when 202 teams and over 4,000 boys and girls took part in the Labor Day Tournament earlier this month.

The tournament was held with the cooperation of Belleville Area College at the complex behind the Granite City campus. Players traveled from as far away as Nebraska and Wisconsin to compete in one of the largest youth tournaments in the country. Divisions competed in age groups ranging from under-9 through under-19 for the girls and under-9 through under-14 for the boys.

First and second-place team awards and individual trophies were presented by Granite City Mayor Ron Selph, a member of Elks Lodge 1063.

For the fifth straight year, the Granite City Fire Department donated equipment and workers in case of injury or heat fatigue. The paramedic staffs of the Mitchell and Long Lake Fire Departments also volunteered assistance.

"WE STARTED WITH BIG-FOOT back in 1975 in Ferguson," Chandler said. "Today, we have 14 trucks and have raced all over the world. But, until now, we've never raced in our own back yard. You bet we're excited about racing at Tri-City."

Fans can save $3.00 on advance adult tickets at the BIGFOOT 4x4 store, located at I-270 and North Lindbergh, in Hazelwood, Mo.

The Monster Trucks blast off the starting line at 7 p.m. Saturday 2 p.m. Sunday. Tri-City Speedway is located one-half mile south of I-270 on Illinois 203.

Elks raise $50,000 for flood relief

The Illinois Elks Association, comprising some 50,000 members in 86 lodges across the state, presented flood relief funds totaling $50,000 to the Quincy and Granite City lodges at the fall state meeting held Sept. 17 through Sept. 19 in Peoria.

The funds will be used in cleanup and relief operations in areas among those hardest hit by the summer floods on the Mississippi and other rivers.

"The action is in keeping with the Elks consistent programs of charitable and community activities," said Michael Manning, Chicago, president of the Illinois Elks Association.

The Illinois Elks is also supplying a total of $5,000 to Iowa and Missouri Elks Associations to help in their flood cleanup. "Community service is one of the prime aspects of the work of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks," stated Manning. "This money will be added to local and other area Elks contributions to give assistance to the communities involved."

Manning pointed out that Quincy Lodge No. 100 has already directed funds to aid a 12-year-old boy who developed paralysis through his body as a result of trauma associated with the flood.

The young man was working along the levees near Quincy, sandbagging and driving a four wheel vehicle, when the levee along the Indian Graves Drainage District broke. The boy made it to the bluffs ahead of the flood waters but could not find his parents who were also working to save their rented land in the drainage district.

"This was a very traumatic time for the child both with the breaking of the levee and with the frantic time he spent trying to find his parents," explains Bill Marsh, exalted ruler of the Quincy lodge. "Due to this trauma he developed Guillain Barre Syndrome with resultant paralysis throughout most of his body," continued Marsh. The family lost its crops and incurred $34,000 in non-insured medical expenses. There is hope for the boy's recovery, but the medical bills remain.

In Granite City area, Lodge No. 1063 is conducting an area-wide appeal for funds and will donate the proceeds to the Noah's Ark relief effort spearheaded by the Salvation Army. The Illinois Elks Association funds will be applied to needs in both communities of Granite City and Quincy and adjoining areas.

Manning pointed out that the Illinois Elks contributed volunteer hours and work in the fiscal year ending March 31 in the amount of more than $5 million in estimated costs that would have been otherwise incurred.

The programs in addition to flood relief work are youth, athletic, medical assistance, patriotic, veterans, drug awareness and community service. The Illinois Elks' major state-wide charitable effort year-around is the Illinois Elks Crippled Children's Corp. providing assistance for handicapped children and scholarships for those who want to work in the physical and occupational therapy field.

There were more than 37,000 persons working in the Elks program benefiting 388,000 recipients.

Garden club meets

Cloverview Garden Club held its September meeting at Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant. President Veronica Williamson, who was the hostess, presided at the meeting.

Roll call, name sights and scenes from a nature walk were discussed.

The group participated in the District V flower show held at Eden Village Care Center in Edwardsville. Twenty-seven entries were submitted and 10 ribbons were awarded to the club. The club will plant a tree on Arbor Day.

Gladys Gaudin was honored with a corsage and the Book of Honors. A short testimonial was given by each member in her behalf.

Marlene Brokaw gave the study on blue birds and showed pictures of the birds and their habitats.

Marge O'Neill will be hostess at the October meeting.

Attends Popeye fan club convention

Brian Luchini, grandson of John Sobol of Granite City, attended the third annual Popeye Fan Club meeting held at Reid's Restaurant in Chester, Ill., on Sept. 11.

The club currently has about 400 members and expects to have about 1000 enrollment by next year.

Chester was the home of Elzie Segar, Popeye cartoonist. The town of Chester holds a three-day festival honoring Popeye every September.

"Everybody has a hero," Sobol said. "Popeye fans believe he was a nice guy, helped people and didn't ask for anything. A museum is planned for opening in the next few years."

"I contributed a rare cast-iron statue that I had owned for 20 years. I just like the fun of the once-a-year meeting and newsletter, but some people border on the extreme."

"This year I saw a full-blown, colored photo of Popeye and Olive Oil holding hands engraved on a tombstone, placed on the future graves of a couple at the meeting."

"I'm particularly proud of Popeye as Frank Rocky Fleegle was the real life individual for whom the cartoon character was named. Fleegle was Polish and so am I," Sobol said.
